

Story 1

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

It is found that out of four categories maximum number of people spend on Clothing followed by accerssories and least number of people spend on OuterWear

Story 1

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

It is observed that in all four seasons there is hike of almost thrice of amount spent by customers on goods in comparison to the previous purchases

Story 1

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

Out of six payment method it is found that all the six methods are almost equally used with a minor difference in payment method for making the transactions.

Story 1

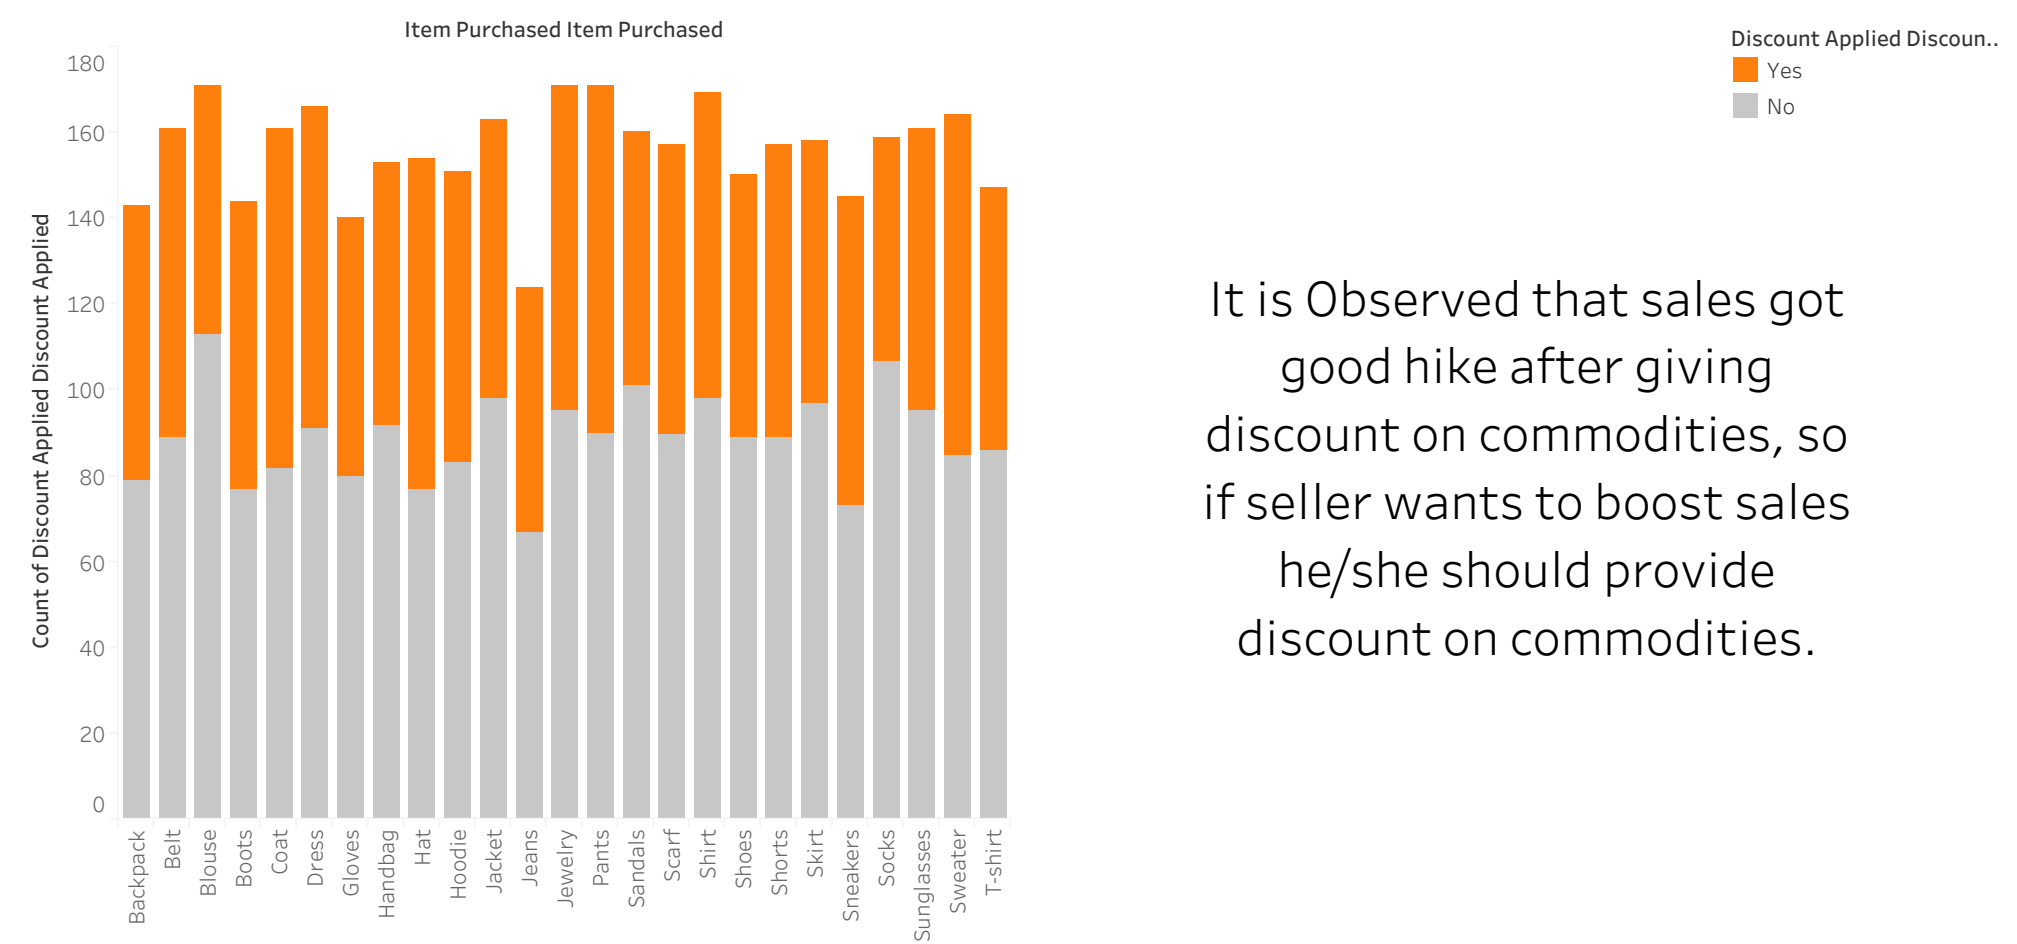

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

It is visible that Male tends to do more shopping than female.

Story 1

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

It is Observed that sales got good hike after giving discount on commodities, so if seller wants to boost sales he/she should provide discount on commodities.

Story 1

category wise data	comparison to previous purchase	Payment Methods used by customers	Male and Female distribution	Effect of discount on goods	Sale of goods as per different sizes.
--------------------	---------------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	---------------------------------------

It is found that in different categories the size that is most demanded is M(Medium), then L(Large),then S(Small) and finally XL(eXtraLarge), so the seller should have a good stock of M and L sizes